CPI International wants eager students to either start or further their career in the Sales and Marketing areas. Work with our Sales and Marketing Teams to identify prospects, manage our database, and develop collateral to win new customers. Self-discipline to drive extensive research and a willingness to do the job right the first time is what we're looking for. Skills with Excel, Adobe Software, Data Analysis, and Web Site Creation highly preferred for Marketing roles.

CPI International Inc. is a direct marketer and manufacturer of analytical chemistries, consumables, and small instrumentation serving laboratories and semiconductor manufacturers worldwide. CPI was established in 1986 and later acquired by a private equity group and is headquartered in Santa Rosa, California. CPI's growth has recently reached a record sales benchmark and is a recognized leader for quality, service, and innovation. CPI's mission is to provide chemists, microbiologists, and scientific professionals the most advanced analytical and life science solutions to improve environmental and process quality. More specifically, we are a consumables company selling to chemists in laboratories in analytical science, to microbiologists' rapid water tests and semiconductor manufacturer's specialty chemical solutions.

At CPI, you will work with extremely bright, motivated, energetic people who are passionate about what they do. It is a company where everyone can make a difference. Flexible hours to accommodate your school schedule. This can be used for school internship credit. Compensation includes hourly rate $8.00 to $11.00/hr.
