THE UNIVERSITY

Sonoma State University is one of the 23 campuses of the California State University. Located in the Sonoma County wine country, 48 miles north of San Francisco, the University has an enrollment of approximately 9,000 students. As of spring 2013, the University had 497 faculty with 47% tenure-track. The University is comprised of six schools: Arts and Humanities, Business and Economics, Education, Extended and International Education, Social Sciences, and Science and Technology. Degrees are offered in 45 majors at the bachelor’s level and 16 at the master’s level. Sonoma State University occupies 274 acres in the beautiful wine country of Sonoma County, in Northern California. Located at the foot of the Sonoma hills, the campus is just an hour’s drive north of San Francisco and 40 minutes away from the Pacific Ocean.

THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Chicano and Latino Studies (CALS) offers students the opportunity to employ an interdisciplinary approach to the study of one of the fastest growing populations in the United States. Courses in CALS invite students to critically examine the experiences and contributions of Latino populations in relation to issues of political representation, linguistic policy, educational inequality, poverty, immigration, and symbolic struggles in media, literature, and the arts. The Department is housed in the School of Arts and Humanities and offers a B.A. in Chicano and Latino Studies with an Interdisciplinary Track, a B.A. in Chicano and Latino Studies with a Social Science Track and a B.A. in Chicano and Latino Studies with a Teacher Preparation Track. In addition, the CALS Department offers a variety of minors that emphasize particular aspects of the CALS curriculum. Currently, the CALS Department has three full-time faculty and hopes to appoint more part-time lecturers each semester.

Prospective applicants are encouraged to see the department’s Web page at: (www.sonoma.edu/CALS/).

DUTIES OF THE POSITION

The Department of Chicano and Latino Studies currently anticipates a number of part-time temporary teaching opportunities across our General Education curriculum and within the major. These courses will be available pending allocation of funds. We are generating an applicant pool of qualified lecturers to teach courses in The Latino Experience, Chicano/Latino Youth and Adolescents, Latinos and Education, Latina/o Arts and Humanities, Major Authors in Chicano and Latino Literature, Chicano/Latino Children’s Literature and Chicano/Latino Philosophy. A topical course in the applicant’s area of specialization may also be considered. We are particularly interested in those applicants who bridge research and policy in their work.

PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS

To be recommended for appointment, the candidate must have:

- Master's or Doctorate degree relevant to the specific courses for which applicant is applying.
- A minimum of one year of teaching Latino Studies or related field at community college or college level experience.
- Successful teaching or work experience with diverse student populations.
- Strong commitment to undergraduate education; proficiency in oral presentation skills, planning and organizing of course objectives; demonstrate knowledge of academic evaluation.
RANK AND SALARY

Full-time is 15-unit workload per semester. Actual salary is dependent upon number of units assigned, educational preparation, and availability of funds subject to any CSU system faculty contract salary increases.
