Upper Division General Education requirements at SSU

- 9 of Upper Division units met in Hutchins Track II major requirements.

Track I Option

Those students wishing a broad interdisciplinary major as a foundation for their career choice (e.g., the arts, the law, public service, etc.) or who are motivated by intellectual curiosity and wish to pursue an individualized study plan, often choose the Interdisciplinary Studies Track I major within the Hutchins School of Liberal Studies. Students majoring in Interdisciplinary Studies will choose from a wide variety of courses which include elective seminars, workshops, independent and directed studies, internships and study away opportunities.

Track II Option

The Hutchins School offers a state-approved Multiple Subject Preparation Program for students intending to earn a California Elementary Teaching Credential. The B.A. pre-credential option ensures interdisciplinary subject matter proficiency as well as possession of the high-level analytic, synthetic, creative and expressive academic skills required of future educators. Completion of the pre-credential liberal studies option is excellent preparation for entering a graduate-level credential program, either in the School of Education at SSU or elsewhere, for the professional training required for a California teaching credential.
